CHANNELED UNIVERSAL ENERGY

A GOD SOURCE FORCE

QUANTUM PHYSICS

I AM

What western medicine has been neglecting in our capitalist society, eastern philosophy has professed for an eternity; our universe is energy in action. The practice of Reiki is the harnessing of that universal energy and redirecting it to help fellow human beings in their pursuit of wholeness and health. The mind set is one of acceptance of something greater than one's self. Believing in the "unknown" so strongly that one is willing to let go of the accepted norm and open one's mind to the unlimited possibilities of another entity; chakra energy centers within each person's body that maintain a beneficial flow of energy by being open, clear and rotating correctly promoting one's life-force and vitality.

Likewise, the mandala is a circular representation of our universe and the ever present energy within it; the intent of its creator is a healing process. Its intent is to send universal energy forth to the world in a gesture of healing of mankind's flaws.

All One Love Energy images and mandala designs herein are presented for entertainment purposes alone, and with the sole purpose of assisting each person viewing the artwork with choosing a life path right for themselves and in making positive choices in their life. ONE LOVE ENERGY new age energy artist - designer - reiki master

JON is an emerging Seacoast New Hampshire “energy” artist using his extensive graphic arts background to create digital abstract artwork on a “computer canvas” through design programs serving as his pallet. Not only are his “Focused Energy” Mandala designs each unique and visually captivating, but they are also infused with, and meant to serve as a portal to, the universal healing energy of Reiki. John has steadily progressed with his Reiki training during his journey culminating with achieving Master level in April 2016.

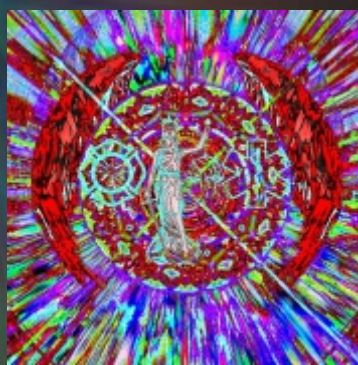

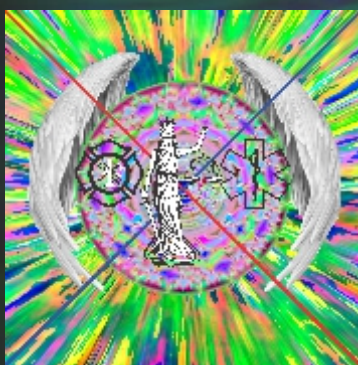

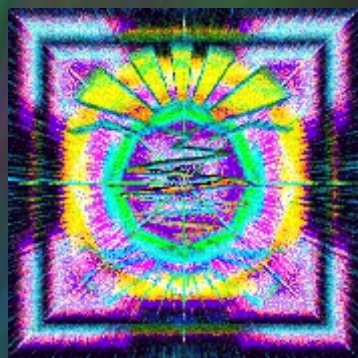

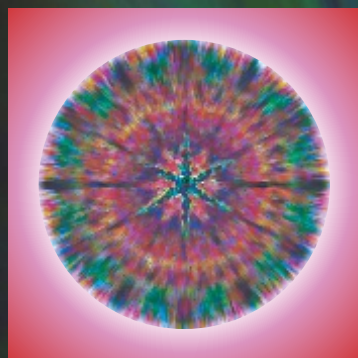

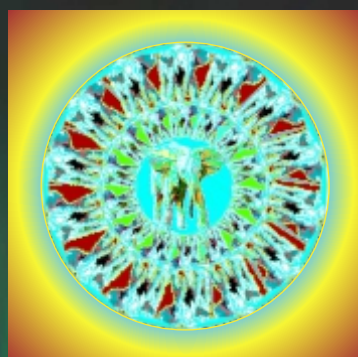

His insightful journey began in 2014. With 30 years of graphic arts experience honed during the evolution of the industry’s technology growth into computerization, John was guided toward two concepts that struck a deep chord within his soul; the universal healing energy known as Reiki and meditative Mandala designs. Up to that time, he had been volunteering a majority of his precious spare moments supporting community organizations, most significantly that of his local fire department. As the son of a lifelong firefighter, though, his desire to serve his community from within the department regretfully didn’t seem to be the right fit. Instead, he was driven to find an outlet for his newfound metaphysical insight that was resonating so strongly for expression.

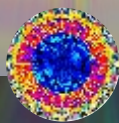

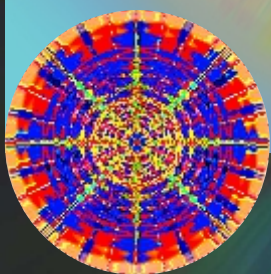

Also of note to this emerging artistic awakening is that John is also a drummer at heart. He had retired his drum set, though, while his wife and he raised their family; returning to drumming in 2012, when their youngest child was graduating high school, and an empty nest lifestyle was approaching. After starting one band, leaving it, joining another, and then leaving it, too, he found himself moving away from commercial musical expression and into the more spiritual realm of hand drumming in 2014.

After an initial two months of creating basic geometric designs on his computer over breakfast each day, his first official production piece was a set of duplicate digital energy posters he shared between himself and his aging mother in an assisted living facility in Florida. His Reiki training enables him to infuse his artwork with the universal healing energy, and in this case, the two posters served as portals between him and his mother through which he could also channel additional healing energy. There were initial signs of relief from her suffering as a result of this effort, accompanied by my more frequent trips south for some hands on attention, but later that year she passed rather suddenly. Despite being a spiritual skeptic, he found solace in the fact that those final months for her were made more bearable thanks to his newfound discovery of universal healing energy.

Since then, the sophistication of John’s designs have evolved into consistently more complex creations. He has even subtly incorporated personal photo imagery into the background energy of a recently commissioned work. And, on another note, in March of 2016, John successfully connected with a great group of musicians and has been regularly drumming with them throughout seacoast New Hampshire.

Focused Energy Series Digital Prints
Artist: John Hazekamp

"One Love Energy" artwork explores the idea rooted in the universal energy in which we all share. My desire is to create a variety of meditative works that intrigue the viewer, provoke feelings of calm, and subtly sooth the soul.

Prints are produced digitally, either...

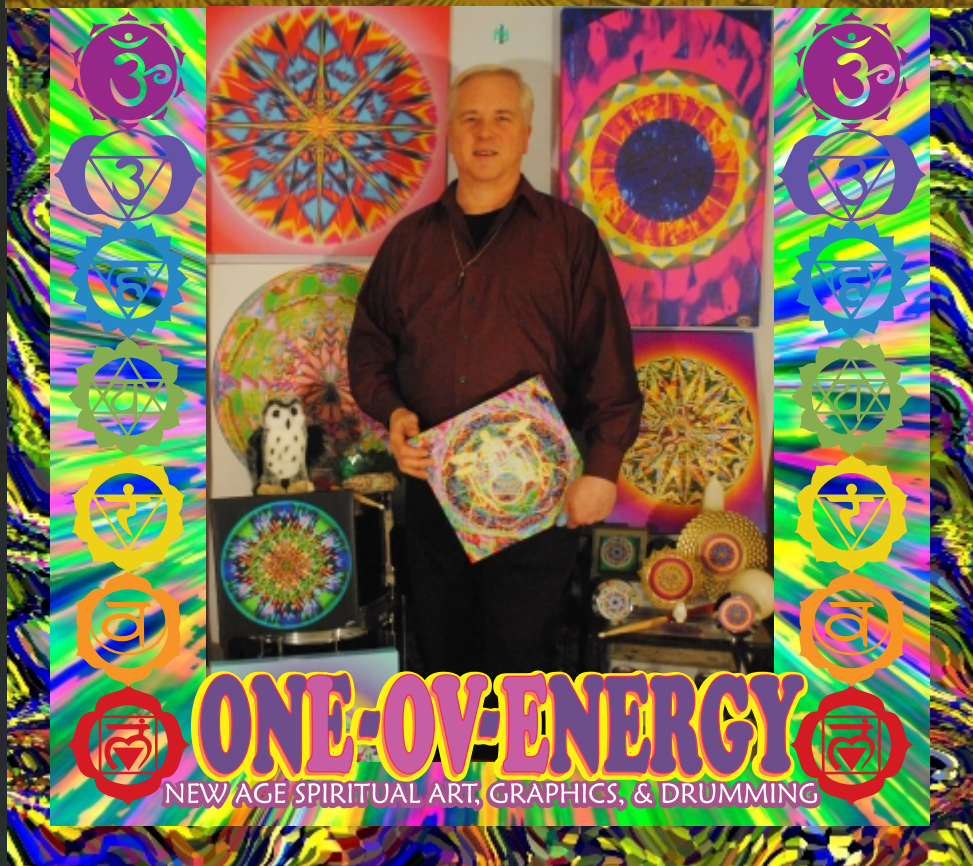

1.) using a Canon Professional Pixma Inkjet Printer affording superb resolution using archival quality inks applied to Glossy II Photo Paper Plus.

This printer's enhanced print head technology coupled with quality Photo Paper and ink ensure incredible quality and detailed images that will last up to 100 years; or 2.) onto canvas using giclee class archival quality inks onto polyester canvas material; the finished product has a semi-gloss surface.
